Taking Steroids Too Early

Since steroids are very effective and reactive, taking them at early stage of your life can cause some health discrepancies for you. You should never take steroids when you are a teenager. In order to use the steroids sensibly, you should at least wait for the age of 21.

Avoiding Dependency

Steroids provide you the feeling of being powerful which could make us dependent on steroids for the rest of the life. The dependency of steroid is very dangerous for the health of the individual. In order to avoid the dependency on steroid, you must wait for few weeks after the completion of a cycle in order to make your body to restore its original functions. A period of 4-8 weeks is enough as a gap between two cycles. A post cycle therapy after the completion of a cycle is highly recommended.
